Submit via email to the Graduate Studies Director by the end of the second week at the beginning of the semester in which the candidate wishes to complete exams.

NAME OF CANDIDATE: ________________________________

The written examination will require students to answer a total of four questions. Three (3) questions are based on areas of study found in the “reading lists” in the Handbook and one (1) question is based on a course the student has taken.

- Three (3) areas from the reading lists (included in the Handbook), from which seven (7) items or topics will be chosen in each area.

Students may not choose more than 2 areas in one field (i.e. Literature/Culture or Linguistics/Pedagogy).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>If areas in Linguistics/Pedagogy are chosen, most of the linguistics reading list is composed of reference books. Consequently, students must contact their Linguistics professors to select 7 topics in a given area. A few examples of possible areas as indicated in the “reading list” are:</th>

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>“History of the Spanish Language”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“Receptive Skills: Reading”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“General Linguistics”</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>If areas of Literature/Culture are chosen, then a few examples of possible areas as indicated in the “reading list” found in the Handbook are included below. In consultation with their professors, students select items for each area (i.e., a novel, collection of short stories, etc.).</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>“Middle Ages &amp; early Renaissance”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“Spanish American Literature, 1940s to the present”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“Spanish Literature, 20th-Century”</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- One (1) question is based on a course or any combination of courses taken. For example, “SPAN 8710 Special Topics in Applied Linguistics,” “SPAN 8885 Special Topics in Latin American Literature/Culture,” “SPAN 8603 Cultural Studies: Women’s Filmmaking in Spain and Latin America,” are a few among various course options.
